THE ALGIERS FIRE.
One Thousand People Made Homeless—A Suspect Nearly Lynched. (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
NEW ORLEANS (La.), Oct. 21.—The fire in Algiers yesterday destroyed 130 houses and shanties occupied by 1000 people. Most of the occupants saved their personal effects. The buildings on ten squares burned, and the real estate on which they stood was assessed at $15,000.

The fire was incendiary. Paul Bouffia, the man who is suspected of being the cause of all the destruction, had a narrow escape from being lynched. He was spirited away from the temporary police station and brought to the hotel where he is now safely housed, with the charge of arson pending against him.

The fire started in an old rookery, a rattle-trap. It was occupied by a score of families, mostly Italians. Paul Bouffia was one of them, and he occupied the lower part of the building. He kept a fruitstand and had a wife and six children to support. He was a man who was nearly disliked by the other Italians in the neighborhood and all over the city. Subscriptions are being solicited for the benefit of the unfortunate families who lost their homes. There were obtained $8000 today.

DENVER, Oct. 21.—Charles Rose is dead and James Girard dying, at Watkins, twenty-one miles east of Denver, as the result of a duel with razors. Both men were employed as section hands on the Union Pacific. There has been a feud of long standing between them.

FRONT AND EAST

Senator Davis Advises Uncle Sam.

No Need to Fear Because of Monroe's Doctrine.

England Will Not Fight So Long as She Cares to Keep Canada.

The British Ultimatum to Venezuela Viewed in Various Lights—London Papers Wheeling Cleveland-Bayard's Gentleness.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
ST. PAUL (Minn.), Oct. 21.—In the course of an interview on Venezuela, Senator C. E. Davis, for a long time chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, said: "Considering the present situation in Venezuela and the action of the British government on the seizure of Corinto, I say most confidently that the United States ought to intervene in this business of formally and by proclamation abrogate the Monroe doctrine as a scarecrow which will no longer frighten."

Senator Davis gave at considerable length the history of the original announcement of this doctrine by President Monroe and outlined the troubles over the boundary between British Guiana and Venezuela, adding:

"I do not apprehend any war with England arising out of existing conditions, nor out of anything which we can foresee. The British already have all her power. She has given in the Dominion of Canada a hostage of peace to the United States, far outvaluing the interest that she has in obtaining or inflicting by war. I think that firm remonstrances, an attitude so unyielding that it will demonstrate the certainty of warlike action as the last extremity, will repress aggression, assert our dignity, secure our safety and vindicate our principles."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The officials of the diplomatic corps in a position to speak with full understanding on the Venezuelan question, upon a careful reading of the official statement of the British Foreign Office, made public in Associated Press dispatch today, say that it is a decisive rejection of the claims made by Venezuela, and a negative answer to the request of the United States that the subject be submitted to arbitration. The essential feature of the Foreign Office statement is pointed out to be that "Great Britain will not permit Venezuela to occupy the territory of the Amazon, the Orinoco, the Rio Negro, the Amacura, and the Cuyuni rivers, but will submit to arbitration other territory in dispute."

It is stated that as there is no other territory in dispute, the British denial of arbitration is comprehensive and complete. The line made by the Amazon and Cuyuni rivers, which has been what is known as the Schomburgk line. Included within it is all the territory on the south bank and at the mouth of the Orinoco. The British already occupy the north bank, so that the official assertion of this claim to the south bank gives them the entire entrance to the great waterway of South America.

Included also within the line of the two rivers is a large part, probably half, of the territory occupied by Venezuela to a United States syndicate. Under the foregoing circumstances, the statement of the Foreign Office is said to sweep away the British ultimatum to arbitration which the United States has urged, and to be a final insistence on British sovereignty over the essential territory of the Orinoco.

The landing of the British marines at Corinto is regarded as the precedent of the latest phase of the Venezuelan trouble, except what has been gathered from the newspapers. His latest mission was an endeavor of the friendliest character to settle the Venezuelan frontier negotiations. Lord Salisbury had listened to his arguments in the best spirit. The delay of Lord Salisbury's reply was due to the latter's holiday and to the subsequent occupation of the Foreign Office by the many dispatches of the United States with Venezuela. It has been amicably arranged by a board of conciliation, and Mr. Bayard said he did not see how the question could be adopted as between Venezuela and England. Lord Salisbury's demand upon Venezuela for reparation, he added, was quite outside of his mission in the affair.

The Daily News, Liberal, says in an editorial that "the long credit to diplomacy that has been the question should be so little unsettled. The successive British administrations have not been perfectly consistent with themselves with each other. The most serious aspect of the question is to be found in the United States, and the dispute will need to be managed with the greatest tact and temper on both sides, especially as there is a similar difficulty in regard to Trinidad. In either case we shall have to consider public sentiment in the United States, and set an example of moderation and self-control."

SALISBURY SHUT UP BAYARD.
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The London correspondent of the World cables the following:

"In conversation with an official of high standing and intimately acquainted with all the facts of the Venezuelan dispute I learned that the ministerial contention here is that the present decisive action of this government must be taken by the recent dispatch from the American State Department enforcing in strenuous tones the Monroe doctrine in connection with the case. My informant told me that to his positive knowledge, at an interview at which Ambassador Bayard was communicated by the recent dispatch to Lord Salisbury, the latter interrupted him midway with the remark that he need not proceed further, as the British government could not even entertain the arguments put forward and absolutely declined to recognize such an application of the Monroe doctrine."

"The terms of Lord Salisbury's written reply were practically the same and included a complete denial of the tone in which the question had been dealt with in the dispatch of the American government, as increasing the difficulties of the situation. In the same document, the State Department was invited to remember that England was an American power before the existence of the United States and her rights on the American continent were superior to those of the United States. Ambassador Bayard, in further communication to the British Foreign Office, pointed out that there is no certainty that England is right about the Venezuelan frontier as in the British Colonial Office list, the authorized publication of the Colonial Department, it is stated that the boundaries of British Guiana have never been clearly defined and regard to the parts now in dispute. This was awkward reference for the British government, but Lord Salisbury replied that the Colonial Office list, not being an official publication, the British government could not be responsible for its statements."

KILLED HIS DOCTOR.
MARION HARDCASTLE OF DALLAS SETTLES HIS DOMESTIC AFFAIRS. (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
ST. LOUIS (Mo.), Oct. 21.—A special to the Republic from Dallas, Tex., says that Dr. J. J. Ray, a prominent physician of Dallas, was shot and instantly killed this evening by Marion Hardcastle, a well-known resident of Dallas. The tragedy took place on the street in the presence of a crowd of people. Hardcastle was arrested. The only statement he would make was that he had been shot and was recently killed this evening by Marion Hardcastle, a well-known resident of Dallas. SIDEGLITS ON THE CHOOSING OF GARFIELD.

Sentiment in Ohio Apparently Strong in the Governor's Favor, But It Misleading.

Governor Foster Suspected of Non-Compliance with the People's Wishes.

Blaine Could Have Been Nominated Had the Buckeye Contingent Chosen—Numerous Complaints as to Its Conduct.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The following is from the text of Senator Sherman's reference, in his memoirs, to the Republican National Convention of 1880, which nominated James A. Garfield for the Presidency, the reference to which has been the subject of newspaper discussion within the past few months:

"During the month of April, delegates were selected from the different Congress districts of the State of Ohio to attend the State convention. The sentiment in my favor was clearly expressed in nearly every county or district of the State. On the 8th of April I wrote the following letter to a friend:

"McKinley is still in Ohio, and I presume he will be there for some days. I have today written to him at Canton, covering the points you name. You had better write to him yourself, giving the list of appointments desired. There is a strong feeling that Garfield, in order to save his district for some days, has placed in a very awkward position now. If this district should be against my nomination, it would be a disaster to either want of influence on his part, or what is worse, a want of sincerity in my support. In view of the past, this would be a delicate matter for me to take any part in, and I leave it entirely to your good judgment and kind friendship."

Sherman then tells how it was arranged that, in case his nomination was found impracticable, the Ohio delegation was to vote for Blaine, and how he requested of Garfield that he be made delegate-at-large that he might aid Sherman effectively. During the early part of the convention, Sherman was split in the Ohio delegation, and a combination of those unfriendly to Sherman was made to disregard instructions and vote against him.

"The folly of a few men made co-operation impracticable. I received opposition in Ohio from his pretended friends and his pretended enemies, and he was forced to leave the delegation, which, but for this defection, would have made his nomination sure had I failed to receive it. The vote of the Ohio delegation was not in my favor, but it was not a disaster."

"As soon as I heard of the movement to nominate Garfield, I sent the following letter to a friend in Ohio:

"WASHINGTON, June 8, 1880. "To Hon. William Dennison, Convention, Chicago. Whenever the vote of Ohio will be used to secure the nomination of Garfield, I appeal to every delegate to vote for him. Let Ohio be solid. Make same appeal in my name to North Carolina and every delegate who has voted for me."

(Signed.) "JOHN SHERMAN."

"The moment the Ohio delegation made I sent the following dispatch to Garfield:

"WASHINGTON, June 8, 1880. "To Hon. James A. Garfield, Chicago: I congratulate you with all my heart upon your nomination as President. You have saved the Republican party and the country from disaster and assured the continued success of Republican principles."

(Signed.) "JOHN SHERMAN."

"In time I became thoroughly advised of what occurred at the Chicago convention and had become entirely reconciled to the result. I frequently afterward I heard incidents and details which occasioned me great pain and which seemed to establish the want of the Ohio delegation, and some of the delegates, and tended to show that for some time before the meeting of the convention the nomination of Gen. Garfield had been agreed upon."

After its close, I had numerous letters from the Ohio delegation, complaining bitterly of the conduct of the Ohio delegation and giving this as a reason why they had not voted for me. I was not at all with the result, but was deeply wounded by what I could not but regard as a breach of faith on the part of some of the Ohio delegation, and especially of Gov. Foster, who had been fully advised of my feelings in regard to his conduct. I had a letter from him on the 23d of June, answering the allegations that had been publicly made in regard to and explaining the action of the Ohio delegation."

In reply Sherman says he wrote Foster a letter detailing the charges that he had made against him, among them that the Indiana, Massachusetts, Vermont and part of the Pennsylvania delegations had offered to vote for him whenever he would use the word, but that he (Foster) acted as if he did not want them to vote for Sherman and put them off. He concluded the letter by assuring Foster that he would accept his frank statement with confidence and would give further evidence of his confidence in him. Then Mr. Sherman adds:

"With this letter I sought to divest myself of all feeling of prejudice growing out of the recent canvass."

THE SENATOR CONTINUES.

"At the close of the fiscal year and the preparation for the usual statements made at that time, there was a period of rest of which I availed myself by taking an excursion along the northeastern coast. Upon my return to New York, I found two letters from Gen. Garfield, both relating to the progress of the canvass, and asking in reply of his letter of acceptance. In reply I wrote him:

"Your letter of acceptance I approve heartily, although I thought you yielded a little too much in one or two sentences on the civil-service question. Although politicians have undertaken to ridicule and belittle the efforts of President Hayes to bring about a civil-service reform, yet the necessity of such a reform is so engrained in the minds of the leading sensible people of the Northern States that anything like an abandonment of that idea will not meet favor. I agree with you that it can only be done by the co-operation of Congress."

I had a conversation with Fletcher Harper at Long Beach on Saturday, which leads me to think he is anxious about this subject, and on the financial question."

"The silver law threatens to produce within a year or so a slight silver standard, and already there is a feeling of uneasiness in New York as to whether we can maintain resumption on the gold standard while the silver law remains. I could at any moment, by selling silver freely, bring a crisis upon this question, but while I hold

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.), Oct. 21.—The fight between Corbett and Fitzsimmons is declared off by the Florida Athletic Club. At a conference this morning between the managers of Corbett and Fitzsimmons, the club asked that the contest be postponed until November 11. Brady acquiesced, but Corbett would not. The contest was declared off. Brady said his last day: That Corbett would meet any man in the world, Fitzsimmons preferred, on November 11, the man to be named within twenty-four hours. Vendig announced that he would match Maher against Corbett and find some one to take the latter's place against O'Donnell, the contest between Maher and Corbett to be for $5000 a side.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.), Oct. 21.—Unless Robert Fitzsimmons recants, and, through his manager, Martin Julian, accepts the extraordinary conditions which confront the situation, there will be no contest between Corbett and Fitzsimmons, unless it be an impromptu one, short of purse offerings or ring rules or referee and seconds, for Corbett says that, unless Fitzsimmons recants, he will not fight. He said that he would not fight under any circumstances he will "send him to hospital" the first time he meets him, and he will go quite a way out of his scheduled theatrical route to meet the attenuated prizefighter.

Today there was a conference between Dan Stewart, John Vendig and the fighters, the latter by proxies, Brady representing Corbett and Julian, Fitzsimmons. The ruling of Chancellor Leatherman is to be taken before the Supreme Court by the Attorney-General, and the club will not appear. He may consume several days in handing down a final hearing. In view of this fact, and anticipating a favorable decision, Corbett called the parties together, and stated the conditions. Stuart wanted a postponement until November 15. He argued that the fight should be postponed until the decision of the Chancellor, it would take that long to restore confidence and get the crowd to Hot Springs. Brady for Corbett said the parties were not. Despite the fact that Corbett went into training a week before his prospective opponent, Julian conceded that the man was a prize, and that to train for several days before the original time would militate against the condition of Fitzsimmons. The proposition was that the fight should be held in private for the main stake, $10,000. Here Stuart interjected an offer of an added $10,000. Brady was willing to accept the offer. He explained that the club, if it pulled the fight off on the 31st of October, would have to make good its full promise of $14,000.

In all equality, in the face of the entanglements which have beset the path of Dan Stewart and Vendig, this cannot be done. When the club has hundreds of excursion parties were being organized for the trip to the fight there are none today. Stuart asked for time, Corbett said he would not wait. He exacted his full pound of flesh. As matters stand at this moment, to use the words of Howard B. Hackett, the highest pugilistic authority in America, Corbett wants to fight; Fitzsimmons does not. The fight is divided between the two camps. The club is in a quandary. The legal part is in the hands of the Supreme Court at Little Rock, while the pugilistic part is on between Corbett and Fitzsimmons. The club is in a quandary. "I have just returned from Milwaukee," said the Senator of Washington, "and have not seen the report of the government directors of the Union Pacific. So far as accepting a cash advance on the part of the government's claim is concerned, from what I have heard about the condition of the roads, I should say that Uncle Sam will be lucky if he gets anything at all out of them. However, as the matter will demand the attention of the next Congress, I must give it some study before I venture upon any definite statement."

Representative Charles M. Cooper of Florida, who was a member of the last House and carefully watched the debates upon the Raynolds Funding Bill, said: "I have not read the reports of the government directors of the Union Pacific, but understand that it is against any further advance and if that is so it meets my approval."

J. N. H. PATRICK'S OPINION.

OMAHA (Nebr.), Oct. 21.—J. N. H. Patrick, the Omaha member of the Union Pacific government directorate, expressed his opinion at length upon the report of that board relating to the road's reorganization. He says:

"We propose such action in foreclosure as will give a direct line under one management from Omaha to Oakland. The advantage of this cannot be overestimated. It would bring about greatly-reduced rates between Omaha and the Coast. The plan in short, is this: Foreclosure of the mortgages, the seizure under them of the reorganization of the Central Pacific, the branch line of all the cumbersome and complex features which now handicap the Union Pacific, and the disposition of it to a syndicate to operate it under a single management, and to prevent a tie-up with the Southern Pacific or other lines; in short, the operation of the line as a plain business enterprise from Omaha to Oakland. We do not contemplate the recovery of branch lines in the hands of other receivers, nor does the Kansas Pacific, and we have no intention of taking a lien, come into this matter."

"Yes, there are syndicates willing to take the line at a fair valuation. If the line can be operated profitably, the revenues will be such as to induce capitalists to go into it. I have every reason to believe it will be done."

PRESIDENT CLARK'S VIEWS.

OMAHA (Nebr.), Oct. 21.—President Clark, managing receiver of the Union Pacific, when asked about the report of the government directors for the through line to the Coast, said that he saw nothing inconsistent in the scheme and that he saw no reason why the government could not pay off the first mortgage and secure control of the Central Pacific and connect it with the Union Pacific for a through line from the Missouri River to the Pacific Coast. He added that he believed that it would be of great benefit to Omaha.

"Yes, there are syndicates willing to take the line at a fair valuation. If the line can be operated profitably, the revenues will be such as to induce capitalists to go into it. I have every reason to believe it will be done."

PRESIDENT CLARK'S VIEWS.

OMAHA (Nebr.), Oct. 21.—President Clark, managing receiver of the Union Pacific, when asked about the report of the government directors for the through line to the Coast, said that he saw nothing inconsistent in the scheme and that he saw no reason why the government could not pay off the first mortgage and secure control of the Central Pacific and connect it with the Union Pacific for a through line from the Missouri River to the Pacific Coast. He added that he believed that it would be of great benefit to Omaha.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.), Oct. 21.—The fight between Corbett and Fitzsimmons is declared off by the Florida Athletic Club. At a conference this morning between the managers of Corbett and Fitzsimmons, the club asked that the contest be postponed until November 11. Brady acquiesced, but Corbett would not. The contest was declared off. Brady said his last day: That Corbett would meet any man in the world, Fitzsimmons preferred, on November 11, the man to be named within twenty-four hours. Vendig announced that he would match Maher against Corbett and find some one to take the latter's place against O'Donnell, the contest between Maher and Corbett to be for $5000 a side.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.), Oct. 21.—Unless Robert Fitzsimmons recants, and, through his manager, Martin Julian, accepts the extraordinary conditions which confront the situation, there will be no contest between Corbett and Fitzsimmons, unless it be an impromptu one, short of purse offerings or ring rules or referee and seconds, for Corbett says that, unless Fitzsimmons recants, he will not fight. He said that he would not fight under any circumstances he will "send him to hospital" the first time he meets him, and he will go quite a way out of his scheduled theatrical route to meet the attenuated prizefighter.

Today there was a conference between Dan Stewart, John Vendig and the fighters, the latter by proxies, Brady representing Corbett and Julian, Fitzsimmons. The ruling of Chancellor Leatherman is to be taken before the Supreme Court by the Attorney-General, and the club will not appear. He may consume several days in handing down a final hearing. In view of this fact, and anticipating a favorable decision, Corbett called the parties together, and stated the conditions. Stuart wanted a postponement until November 15. He argued that the fight should be postponed until the decision of the Chancellor, it would take that long to restore confidence and get the crowd to Hot Springs. Brady for Corbett said the parties were not. Despite the fact that Corbett went into training a week before his prospective opponent, Julian conceded that the man was a prize, and that to train for several days before the original time would militate against the condition of Fitzsimmons. The proposition was that the fight should be held in private for the main stake, $10,000. Here Stuart interjected an offer of an added $10,000. Brady was willing to accept the offer. He explained that the club, if it pulled the fight off on the 31st of October, would have to make good its full promise of $14,000.

In all equality, in the face of the entanglements which have beset the path of Dan Stewart and Vendig, this cannot be done. When the club has hundreds of excursion parties were being organized for the trip to the fight there are none today. Stuart asked for time, Corbett said he would not wait. He exacted his full pound of flesh. As matters stand at this moment, to use the words of Howard B. Hackett, the highest pugilistic authority in America, Corbett wants to fight; Fitzsimmons does not. The fight is divided between the two camps. The club is in a quandary. The legal part is in the hands of the Supreme Court at Little Rock, while the pugilistic part is on between Corbett and Fitzsimmons. The club is in a quandary. The legal part is in the hands of the Supreme Court at Little Rock, while the pugilistic part is on between Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

"I have just returned from Milwaukee," said the Senator of Washington, "and have not seen the report of the government directors of the Union Pacific. So far as accepting a cash advance on the part of the government's claim is concerned, from what I have heard about the condition of the roads, I should say that Uncle Sam will be lucky if he gets anything at all out of them. However, as the matter will demand the attention of the next Congress, I must give it some study before I venture upon any definite statement."

Representative Charles M. Cooper of Florida, who was a member of the last House and carefully watched the debates upon the Raynolds Funding Bill, said: "I have not read the reports of the government directors of the Union Pacific, but understand that it is against any further advance and if that is so it meets my approval."

J. N. H. PATRICK'S OPINION.

OMAHA (Nebr.), Oct. 21.—J. N. H. Patrick, the Omaha member of the Union Pacific government directorate, expressed his opinion at length upon the report of that board relating to the road's reorganization. He says:

"We propose such action in foreclosure as will give a direct line under one management from Omaha to Oakland. The advantage of this cannot be overestimated. It would bring about greatly-reduced rates between Omaha and the Coast. The plan in short, is this: Foreclosure of the mortgages, the seizure under them of the reorganization of the Central Pacific, the branch line of all the cumbersome and complex features which now handicap the Union Pacific, and the disposition of it to a syndicate to operate it under a single management, and to prevent a tie-up with the Southern Pacific or other lines; in short, the operation of the line as a plain business enterprise from Omaha to Oakland. We do not contemplate the recovery of branch lines in the hands of other receivers, nor does the Kansas Pacific, and we have no intention of taking a lien, come into this matter."

"Yes, there are syndicates willing to take the line at a fair valuation. If the line can be operated profitably, the revenues will be such as to induce capitalists to go into it. I have every reason to believe it will be done."

Good advertising creates a demand for new things. It widens the market for old ones. It induces consumers to go down into their pockets, and start cash in circulation. The vital point is to have the advertising good.

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock there will be a novel aquatic exhibition by search light at Westlake Park. The diving tower will be brilliantly illuminated and a canvas cottage erected half way up. In it will appear a lively domestic scene, during which old Nick will take part, and a canvas explosion and a leap in to the lake by the inmates. This will be followed by a most laughable burlesque prizefight on a raft in the lake, which will be surrounded by a halo of light, furnished by the search light on top of the seventy-five-foot tower.

THE BOGUS MESSIAH.

Schweinfurth's Power is Declared to be Mostly Hypnotism.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

ROCKFORD (Ill.) Oct. 21.—George Jacob Schweinfurth, the famous "Messiah," will appear in the Circuit Court here Monday, October 22, in answer to an indictment of the grand jury against him at the April term, on the grounds that he was living illegally with the members of his flock at Zion, a short distance south of this city. Hypnotism, no doubt, will play an important part in the trial. It would seem from these intimations that the Rockford "Messiah" possesses more of the occult power than Du Maurier's villain, and has used it successfully on dozens of subjects.

The main features of the celebrated case will be the arguments brought up by the prosecuting attorney to show that Schweinfurth has been violating the law in his manner of living.

The State has tried to indict Schweinfurth before, but has never succeeded. Carl Michelson, one of the male inmates of the "heaven," has deserted Schweinfurth, and has joined friends in Rockford. Michelson was retained as a witness for the prosecution. In an interview he corroborated the testimony of Lynn Grandy, another inmate, in regard to the influence exercised by Schweinfurth. Michelson has traveled with a professional hypnotist as a sub-furth's influence parades of a hypnotic character. The women, he declares, are completely in his power.

DID HE KILL HIMSELF.

A MYSTERIOUS TRAGEDY IN A PRINTING OFFICE.

J. B. Skofstad Found on the Floor with a Bullet in His Brain—Died Without Recovering Consciousness—Probably Suicide.

J. B. Skofstad, a printer, died in the Receiving Hospital yesterday evening from the effects of a gunshot wound, under circumstances that point to suicide. Whether he took his own life or was foully murdered will be determined at the Coroner's inquest today.

Skofstad was a single man, thirty years old, and lived with his widowed mother and two sisters at No. 118 Court street. He formerly was employed in the composing-room of the daily Tribune, but when that paper became extinct, he went north, and for six years worked at his trade in San Francisco, Seattle, Tacoma and other Coast cities. Last May he returned to Los Angeles, and, being unable to secure steady employment, he finally concluded to go into business for himself. About a week ago he rented a printing outfit of A. H. S. Perkins, located in the Phoenix office in the Downey block, and began work with a view of publishing a travelers' guide-book.

About 7:30 o'clock yesterday evening Mr. Perkins observed the printing office in the dark and stumbled over the body of a man, lying on the floor. He struck a light, and was horrified to see that it was young Skofstad, who had a bullet hole in his head and was gasping spasmodically for breath. Perkins ran down stairs and summoned a hackman to his assistance. He also telephoned to the police station for the patrol wagon, which does duty as an ambulance.

Perkins and the hack-driver stood guard over the body till the patrol wagon came. A 38-caliber pistol with one cartridge exploded lay at the wounded man's feet. Several cartridges were in his pocket. The position of the body and surroundings indicated that Skofstad had shot himself while standing up. He was laid on a stretcher and taken to the Receiving Hospital, where he died at 10:10 o'clock, without having regained consciousness. The bullet went at the right temple and lodged under the skin of the left temple, having passed clear through the brain.

The young man was bright and industrious, and appeared to be doing well with his new venture. Apparently his habits were good. He was fond of his mother and sisters, and never gave them any trouble. Lately his health appeared to be failing, and despondency over this fact is the only cause the family know of that he could have had for killing himself. In fact, they are loath to believe that he did commit suicide, but rather incline to the murder theory.

He went home to lunch last noon yesterday, and appeared to be in unusually good spirits. There was nothing in his manner that indicated that he had trouble of any kind, or contemplated suicide. When he did not come home to dinner at the usual hour, the family felt uneasy, but they thought he might have been delayed by his work, or his uneasiness increased as the evening wore on. They were not informed of his sad fate till nearly 10 o'clock. They reached his side just as he was breathing his last.

The shock to the family was great, as he was the only son and brother. They cannot account for the tragedy. One of the dead man's sisters is a clerk in the money-order department of the postoffice; the other is a teacher in the public schools of this city. Both are well-known and accomplished young ladies. Much sympathy is felt for them and the bereaved mother.

The body was removed to Kregolo & Bresse's, where the inquest will be held today.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

(San Francisco Call.) A point of law stated by the Supreme Court in the case of the Stockton Savings and Loan Society against R. B. Purvis is:

A growing crop is necessarily in the possession of the party who is in possession of the land, whether he be the owner or the lessee, and in the absence of a statute authorizing a mortgage of crop independently of the land, it is difficult to see how such a lien can be vested in one not in possession of the land, as will authorize him to pursue an action at law against one who takes the property.

That such a lien may be created by a division in the lease, which is, in legal effect, a chattel mortgage, seems to be conceded by the great weight of authority, but in such case it is generally held to be necessary that the lease be recorded or filed as such mortgage.

ENGLAND'S NESTOR.

Ex-Postmaster-General James has a Talk With Gladstone.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Ex-Postmaster-General Thomas L. James, who has just returned from Europe, gives to the press the following statement of his visit to Gladstone:

"I never had met Mr. Gladstone, and I was very anxious to have that pleasure. He is a man for whom I have great admiration, and I was naturally curious to see him and hear him talk. No, I was not disappointed in him. He was very much the sort of a man that I had conceived him to be, and he shows no signs of mental or physical decay. If the Tories think that he is going out without leaving any mark, they are mistaken. Gladstone is a remarkably vigorous man now. In his recent oration at Chester he spoke for sixty-five minutes, and the latter half of his discourse was as full of fire as the first. He has a remarkable voice for a public speaker. It is something like that of Joseph Choate, just as clear, but stronger.

"During the course of our conversation, Mr. Gladstone affirmed his sentiments on the Armenian question, and said in effect that the civilized world would not let the outrages continue or go on without reparation, and that the atrocities which were being committed in Armenia should be stopped. Mr. Gladstone is a most fascinating man in conversation, and he is ever ready with a reply. Someone present remarked that England had secured free trade through protection.

"I want you to take this message to the American people for me," said Mr. Gladstone. "I want you to tell them that when the United States of America adopts free trade she will be the greatest commercial power on the globe, and she won't hurt England either. The United States adopts free trade she will have 50 to 60 per cent. of the carrying trade of the world, and England will have 25 per cent. more than she has today."

"The conversation was turned on to the subject of the Armenian question, and Mr. Gladstone remarked that as a rule, the English were not good speakers. He contended that their difficulty was a very poor enunciation. 'Americans,' he said, 'have an excellent enunciation. The Irish are a nation of born orators. They have a right to be so, for they have their rights, justice cannot long be delayed. It is coming, and it is coming speedily. If they only stop quarrelling among themselves.'"

COLLEGE FRATERNITIES.

Trouble Ahead for the Greeks of Chicago Universities.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Trouble is ahead for the Greeks of the University of Chicago. It has just leaked out that at the faculty meeting Saturday the question of allowing fraternities to remain in the university was again taken up, and a strong party favored the complete revocation of the permission given them to enter. The matter was not definitely settled, but was referred to a second committee, which is to report next week. If any such measure is adopted, it will mean trouble and lots of it for the wearers of pins with the mystic devices and Greek letters.

What caused the new action cannot be definitely learned, but it is supposed that some charges regarding "wire-pulling" at a recent election have come to the ears of the faculty, and this is the result. When the university first opened it was the determination of the faculty to bar all secret organizations. This was finally reconsidered and permission was granted fraternities to enter under certain conditions. The most important of which was that every man initiated should have completed at least one year's work at the university. Two or three weeks ago this was officially interpreted to mean that no fraternity would pledge any one below the freshman class. This amendment was accepted and lived up to by the fraternities, and no grounds for expelling them have been found from an infringement of this regulation.

If any radical action is taken against fraternities, it will mean the loss to the university of many under-graduates, for fraternities have progressed wonderfully in spite of the unfavorable light in which they were viewed by the authorities and their membership naturally includes those who have been most prominent in student affairs.

Public ed was portant and laws of this city, and that the said Chief of Police be required to do his sworn duty in the execution and enforcement of the same, or that he be requested to resign his office to one who will.

"Unanimously adopted by the Ministerial Union, October 21, 1935.

(Signed) D. C. COLMERY, President.

"REV. FRANCIS M. LARKIN, Secretary."

President Teed remarked that it did not appear very clear to him what the petition asked for.

Councilman Snyder said that certain officials had declared they would not have certain things done in the matter, and he thought it was time they were about it.

"It isn't understood by this that an attempt is to be made to remove the Chief of Police, is it?" queried Councilman Munson.

President Teed said very promptly and very positively that nothing of the kind, so far as he knew, was to be done.

He said he believed the man occupying that position was trying to do his duty fearlessly and honestly.

Councilman Klinger said he thought the Police Commission ought to be asked what it was doing in the matter, and, in pursuance of the spirit of this remark, a few minutes later made a motion that the Police Commissioners be instructed to make a report to the City Council as to what progress they are making in removing the notorious fence on Alameda street; also removing the houses of prostitution from Alameda street as per order of the City Council. Adopted.

After more or less rambling discussion, the committee from the Ministerial Union was referred to the City Attorney.

OIL-WELL LICENSE.

Charles J. Perkins was heard in behalf of certain owners and operators of oil wells. He asked that the present ordinance imposing a license of $2 per quarter on each well be changed so as to make the license $1.50 per quarter.

A few minutes later such an ordinance was passed and adopted.

SEWER MATTERS.

The Sewer Committee reported as follows:

"We recommend that the bid of A. S. Hietchev to sewer Mount and other streets, known as the Downey-avenue sewer district No. 4, at $1 per lineal foot for sewer complete including manholes, flush-tanks and lampoles, be accepted and that the necessary resolution of award be adopted." Adopted.

"We recommend that the bid of A. S. Hietchev to sewer Mount and other streets, known as the Downey-avenue sewer district No. 4, at $1 per lineal foot for sewer complete including manholes, flush-tanks and lampoles, be accepted and that the necessary resolution of award be adopted." Adopted.

On motion of Councilman Munson it was ordered that the City Engineer be authorized to place and grade where not already so placed.

ENGINEER'S REPORT.

The City Engineer supplementally reported as follows:

"Final ordinance establishing the grade of Kingsley street from Thirtieth street to the west city boundary." Adopted.

"Final ordinance establishing the grade of Fourth street from Mount street to Fresno street; Euclid street from Fourth street to Eagle street, and Davis street from Fourth street to Second street." Adopted.

"Ordinance of intention to establish the grade of Kipp street from Seventh street to the angle in Kipp street between Seventh and Orange streets." Adopted.

"In regard to the condition of the street at the intersection of Olive street and First street, I beg to report that the difficulty in regard to the storm water is owing to a change in grade, leaving the old improvements on Olive street, south of First street, higher than the recent improvements north of First, causing the water to collect at this point, putting the street car tracks, sidewalks and gutters to grade would permanently remedy the difficulty, but a temporary expedient would be to place a culvert across First street on the west side of Olive street or across Olive street on the north side of First street. The former would probably be better inasmuch as the latter expedient would run the water into the uncompleted First-street cut." Piled.

"In regard to your order of the 14th inst., instructing me heretofore to make assessment maps during the progress of the work, and the opinion of the City Attorney that the request is a reasonable one, I would state that while the law is instructive on this point it is mandatory; if it were it would exact a physical impossibility of this department with its present force."

"There is more work being required of the engineering force at the present time in the way of street improvements, opening up old streets, water and sewer work, than ever before. The records of this department, as I have reported before, have never been properly systematized, owing, undoubtedly, to the same condition existing with previous administrations that does with this, viz., lack of funds."

"The Council could not make an investment that would give more economical results than to spend the necessary amount in aiding this department to recover lost time on new work. The investment would pay for itself in less than two years' time. All proceeds of the investment would be used in paying through this department an unnecessary amount of time owing to this situation, and the fact that even then errors unavoidably creep in. The amount of time saved would be a very short time for the original investment, not to mention the comparative of all proceedings, which alone in a very few cases would make sufficient savings to the property owners to warrant the expenditure."

"The county, through the recommendation of E. T. Wright, County Surveyor, has made an appropriation of $15,000 to place the records of that department, for assessment and other purposes, in proper order, and they have acted wisely, for with their records in the condition they have been, they would have expended that amount and more in a very short time to a temporary expedient, with nothing permanent to show for it."

"I ask the Council to give me relief in this condition. I know your financial necessities, and appreciate what you have to contend with, but mine are becoming equally as great." Referred to the Finance Committee.

Councilman Stockwell, as chairman of the Finance Committee, which had at the morning session been referred the new official bond of P. A. Howard as Street Superintendent, reported verbally to the Council that the committee, although stockholders in corporations, were not on the assessment roll for consideration. The question whether it would be legal to accept such sureties was referred to the City Attorney.

(It was learned later in the day that the surety referred to was Mr. Llewellyn, but that his name did not appear on the assessment roll for the desired amount.)

was moved to warn Mrs. Davis that if the thrashing were repeated he would arrest her. She promptly informed the him that he would be arrested if he attempted to interfere with her, but decided that discretion was the better part of valor, and that Whitlister was the best place for the boy.

They Did Their Best.

Charles Bower and a man named Bill Bergier, together with four barkeepers, were arrested yesterday afternoon for selling liquor with license at Agricultural Park. They were arraigned before Justice Young, and gave bonds of $50 each. The men claim they are not to blame, as they took every possible step to have everything legal and proper. The privilege was granted, but the bids were not accepted until Saturday. They tendered the money for a license, but there had to be a delay for the necessary advertising, so they opened their saloons anyway. All pleaded not guilty to the offense as charged.

Will Make a Deposition.

J. T. Bell, the father of Mrs. Clara Shipton, who is now held as a witness against Mayne, applied yesterday for permission to have her testimony taken in order that she might be released. The deposition was to have been taken before Judge Clark yesterday, but the fair witness applied on Saturday in order that the attorneys might be properly notified.

Vengeance Still Unsatisfied.

W. D. Larrabee is finally released from the charge of perjury brought against him by J. H. Levering, the case being dismissed yesterday by Justice Young. The charge grew out of the arrest of Levering, who was charged several weeks ago on the charge of stealing eighty-four rails from Colegrove. The case was dismissed, but Levering wished to have direct examination retained charging Mr. Larrabee with perjury.

Both Wags the Child.

A case of habeas corpus which came before Judge McKinley yesterday shows a very pretty squabble between a woman and her husband. The woman, Mrs. Raquila Cuccia, who is the wife of the defendant, was charged with the kidnapping of the child, a boy of 6, by his father. The child was brought into court yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus. The judge ordered that the father be permitted to see the child once a week and that the father be permitted the same privilege regarding the five younger children now in Mrs. Cuccia's custody. The order is to stand until the divorce is decided.

Matrimonial Bliss Turns to Bitter.

Charles Kloth, an employee of the Cudahy Packing Company, has been having a serious time with the partner of his joys and sorrows. His wife has separated from him several times, bringing a divorce suit each time, but has returned and returned to him, so the suits have come to nothing. The present suit was filed, Mrs. Kloth lived with her husband for several days and then returned to her home. The judge ordered that the husband be permitted to see the child once a week and that the father be permitted the same privilege regarding the five younger children now in Mrs. Cuccia's custody. The order is to stand until the divorce is decided.

Looks Very Suspicious.

Among those arraigned yesterday before Judge Smith was George Braby, charged with the kidnapping of a child. The charge is based upon the fact that Braby, who is a well-known character in the neighborhood, was found with a child in his possession. The child was brought into court yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus. The judge ordered that the father be permitted to see the child once a week and that the father be permitted the same privilege regarding the five younger children now in Mrs. Cuccia's custody. The order is to stand until the divorce is decided.

New Definition of Jaw.

An odd demurrer was presented yesterday to the information charging Dick Woods with mayhem. The information was alleged to be defective because Woods had simply broken the lower jaw of a man, which is not a crime under the law. The demurrer was sustained, and the case was dismissed.

New Suits.

E. G. Krebs, as executor of the will of D. J. Shuler, deceased, has begun suit against A. H. Statham, Mrs. Mary E. Statham and Ole Bell, Clark, to foreclose a mortgage for $1500.

Augustus P. Hills has applied for a divorce from Lena Hills on the ground of desertion.

Court Notes.

The trial of F. B. Kennett for the murder of A. H. Lawson was continued until October 23, when it will begin in Department One of the Superior Court.

Donald Cooper Henderson, a native of Scotland, was yesterday admitted to citizenship by Judge Shaw.

The arraignment of E. M. and J. G. Coe, on the charge of grand larceny, was continued to October 23.

Charles H. Smith was arraigned on the charge of crime against nature. The motion to dismiss the information was denied.

D. C. de la Osa, charged with assault to murder, was in court for arraignment, but the matter was continued to October 23.

Albert Forman, accused of forging the name on a coupon ticket, was arraigned and set aside for October 23.

The arraignment of Harry Nolan on the charge of felony was continued to October 23, on account of the illness of the defendant.

Richard Woodward, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was arraigned, pleaded guilty to simple assault and was sentenced to the County Jail for ten days.

San Gabriel Protection District Not to be Formed.

Yesterday was auditing day with the Board of Supervisors, but the regular business of the day was laid aside in order to take up some matters which were pressing enough to require prompt attention.

As the majority of property-owners have remonstrated against the formation of the new San Gabriel River protection district, the board has declared all further proceedings in the matter to be at an end, and the affair dismissed.

Upon motion of Supervisor Field, the bid of $100 offered by John A. Pirle for the pipeline franchise was accepted.

Upon motion of Supervisor Woodward, the bid of the California Bank for La Verne school district bonds, was accepted. The bank offered the bonds at 100, accrued interest and $10 premium.

The application of Milton J. Need for license to open a saloon at Pomona and the petition of the citizens of Pomona opposing the idea, were both continued to October 31.

Upon motion of Supervisor Hanley, all the bids for the placing of roller shelves in the Assessor's office were rejected.

Upon motion of Supervisor Hanley $500 was transferred from the general road fund to the Los Angeles road fund to pay for the grading of the San Fernando road.

The application of E. Fleur for license to open a saloon at Garvanza, was continued until today.

THE SUPREME COURT.

PHOENIX, Oct. 19.—(Regular Correspondence.) Phoenix will have a distinguished resident in the coming winter in the person of Whitehead Read of the New York Tribune. Mr. Read has written to a friend here to secure him a furnished house for himself and family for the winter season. He is expected here within a month.

THE IRRIGATION COMMISSIONER SUES.

Maj. T. C. Jordan, the new Irrigation Commissioner, has, through his attorneys, brought suit for $50 for his salary for September. The case starts in before a justice of the peace, but is likely to matter with the decision going to go through to the Supreme Court. The aim is to get the opinion of the highest court of the Territory as to the legality of the act creating the office of Irrigation Commissioner. The outcome will be watched with interest by eleven other County Irrigation Commissioners, for nearly unanimously the Arizona Board of Supervisors has resisted the payment of the Irrigation Commissioners' salary.

PARSIMONIOUS MAIL SERVICE.

There is no relief in sight from the unsatisfactory mail conditions from Phoenix northward. Samuel Flint, San Francisco superintendent of this mail division, was here a day or two ago and was interrogated on the matter. He says the matter was long ago laid before the authorities in Washington. The trouble, he says, lies in parsimonious appropriations made by Congress to the Postoffice Department. Each year the appropriation is made beautifully smaller, until adequate accommodations have become out of the question. An early decision is not expected, the decision is hardly expected to be favorable, and, when it does come, it will be from Washington.

FIGHTING THE UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT.

The new Union school district is having a fight on hands from taxpayers who object to the extra $10,000 a year required of twelve districts for it. The district was formed last March. Out of the twelve districts that petitioned the County Superintendent to hold such an election, two failed to hold an election, while five only voted for it, leaving five districts against it. ## WANTED—A NEW POSTOFFICE.

Postoffice Inspector George H. Waterbury has been here for a few days, and has pronounced the postoffice accommodations for Prescott as entirely inadequate. Notwithstanding that it is a second-class office he said there were but two third-class offices in his division in poorer quarters. He characterized the office here as a wedge-shaped building. He said that all the districts that joined in the petition were under the provisions of the law passed, to be counted in the union. Judge Grouse accordingly, under his opinion, submitted an estimate of the amount to the Supervisors necessary to run the union district for the ensuing year in the sum of $10,000. The principal points raised by the plaintiff are that notice was not given to the electors according to law, and that more, under the provisions of the act relating to high schools, that it requires a majority vote of all the qualified electors of the district participating. It appears on these grounds that sufficient votes were not cast to meet the requirements of the law.

Cox &amp; Willmetts.

Cox & Willmetts, who were retained by the plaintiff and Millay & Bennett will represent the Board of Supervisors. ATTACKED BY AN OSTRICH. The owner of the band of ostriches a few miles out of town, Josiah Harbort, had a close call for his life this week. He had entered a field where two of the birds were. One of them was a vicious brute, and attacked him with that front-end kick of a mule kicking. The man was thrown down, and the bird gave him a terrific knock-out kick and then jumped on his back and kept on stamping. The man has had experience with ostriches, and knew better than to resist. He therefore lay perfectly motionless, feigning unconsciousness. The business of the bird. Soon the bird struttled away, proud of his job. Harbort then escaped from the field. His injuries were not serious.

MORPHINE DIDN'T AVAIL.

Victor Joyeau, a jeweler here, took morphine and then regretted it. He swallowed two bits worth of the drug and went to his room. The next morning he found his neighbors in terrible spasms. When discovered he was anxious to be rid of the drug. Dr. Wharton applied some old-fashioned drastic emetics, and the man was soon turned inside out. He will recover. Five months ago he lost the sight of one eye from a chip from an emery wheel. Since then the other eye has been failing, and in consequence Joyeau became very dependent.

TRAIN SERVICE CHANGES.

Northbound, Phoenix, 6:30 a.m.; Prescott, 3 p.m.; Ash Fork 5:10 p.m.; southbound, Ash Fork, 7 a.m.; Prescott, 9:15 a.m.; Phoenix, 11 p.m. The following is the new time table announced by the North and South roads, to go into effect the 25th. The change is a marked improvement in the service from here, as the train now leaves at the unearthly hour of 2:25 a.m. for the North and arrives here about midnight. The entire run, in both directions, will soon be made by daylight. In consequence of the day-light run the Pullman sleepers will be taken off. Close connections will be made at Ash Fork with the new flyer trains to be put on by the Santa Fe on the 29th.

TUCSON.

Tucson, Oct. 19.—(Regular Correspondence.) A fine brick business block will be erected forthwith on Union Congress street, just above the Postoffice block. A. V. Grossetta will put up the block. The adobe building there used as a lodging-house, is being torn out. The Masonic fraternity will probably unite with Mr. Grossetta in the building, and occupy one floor. Another brick block will be probably be erected in the same vicinity by Messrs. Fleischman and Fitch.

TUCSON WANTS THE PRIZEFIGHT.

Tucson does not propose to be left out of the procession of cities offering inducements for the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight. An effort will be made to raise $40,000 at once, to be offered as an inducement to bring the prizefight here. It is held that Silver Lake would make good training quarters for Corbett, while Fitzsimmons could put himself in shape at the Union Park. If nothing else results Tucson would thus come in for some free advertising. Minor prizefights have been held in Arizona with interference by the authorities, and it is claimed that the big fellows should fight as well.

Lawrence Lemon, the murderer of Thomas Shean at Harshaw, has been indicted by the grand jury. His trial has been set for the 24th of this month. The feeling of the witnesses in general, according to private advices from Harshaw, is very bitter against Lemon. Superintendent Randolph yesterday received an elegantly appointed special car, the San Carlos.

KILLED BY A BRONCO.

Jesus Valenzuela, a well-to-do Mexican residing here, was killed while breaking a bronco horse, a few miles out of town, at his ranch on the Laguna. The horse made a wild rush in which it stumbled and fell. The rider was thrown under the animal, the pomel of the saddle with the horse's full weight on it striking him on the breast. The injury was very painful, crushing him somewhat. Messengers were dispatched to this city for a doctor, a priest, and a little later for an undertaker. The only one in time was the undertaker. Deceased was 63 years old and leaves a widow and three children. The operation of the gallies and additional dressing-rooms have been put in, and the kalsomining and palmtrees have been the finishing touches of the interior. Some new scenery has been ordered.

FROM CHURCH TO GOVERNMENT.

The Indian school here was instituted eight years ago by the board of missions of the Presbyterian church. The accommodations are for 150 pupils—about the limit to which the church can afford to put it. Most of the pupils are Papagos from the reservation near by. The government has just made a proposition for the purchase of the Indian school here, having been advised by Agent R. Roe Young. The gains to be made by this move for the government are that a larger school is needed, and the location here is better than elsewhere. This point of location is due to the unwillingness of the Papago parents to allow their children further from home than the school. Superintendent Billman is unable to say whether the church would part with the property, but is of the opinion that the change would be advisable. He admits that there is a wider field here than the church can afford to cover. He believes the church could advantageously organize another school in Southern Arizona, and that a more fertile field would be in the Papago Indian Reservation itself. A closer contact with the Indians, he thought, would more fully carry out the purposes of the church.

PRESCOTT.

PRESCOTT, Oct. 19.—(Regular Correspondence.) James Blanch has become insane, due probably to too much liquor. He will be held a few days, pending the outcome of a course of surgery. He is being kept in the asylum. Last night, while being transferred from the jail to the County Hospital, he jumped from the second story window and fell to the ground. He was badly injured, and is now in the hospital. He is being kept in the asylum. Today is the last of the three days' racing here. The results have been disappointing. The races were good, and some speedy horses were entered. The attendance was surprisingly small, however, and pool sales were light.

Fruits for Europe.

(American Cultivator.) Probably England offers the best possible market for American fruits if they can be shipped there in proper condition and at an expense not so great as to absorb all profits. Comparatively little fruit is raised there, except in the gardens of the wealthy, and the markets are supplied with a limited number of apples, pears, peaches and apricots by a few professional growers. The English public likes fruit as well as the American, but the supply has never been large enough to satisfy the demand. Some of the small fruits, such as strawberries, raspberries, currants and raspberries, are raised by all of the poor farmers, and they supply the market mostly in season. The English markets seldom display for sale the great varieties of fruit commonly raised in America.

Australia has lately entered the market to supply England with fruit, and fast steamers are engaged in carrying apples from that island to the home country. With the steady growth of Australian horticulture, it will be only a short time before large quantities of other fruit will be sent to England. Horticulture has developed faster in the former country than the population, and the growers have to seek foreign markets to dispose of their goods. Americans have been slow to avail themselves of markets outside of their own towns and cities. This has been partly due to the large home consumption of fruit. Our towns and cities have absorbed most of the crop in the past, and growers had no reason to go elsewhere to find profitable sales. But now are rapidly reaching a time when the markets will have to be enlarged, or fruit culture restricted. In nearly every fruit-growing region the surplus production is increasing rapidly, and even the canning and evaporating factories cannot use up all that are raised.

The question naturally arises: What can we do to increase the demand? The answer to this question was satisfactorily made years ago when apples were first exported to Europe. Since then our shipments of apples to Europe have been enormous, and the trade has been placed on a secure foundation. There is no experiment about the matter. American and Canadian apples shipped to Europe command prices sufficiently satisfactory to induce them to continue the practice. During the last few years several attempts were made to ship Florida oranges to Europe in the same way. The results were not entirely satisfactory, but when the methods of packing and shipping are better understood, there is no doubt but that orange shipments will be nearly as large as our present export trade in apples.

Our pears and peaches have been exported only in a very limited way, and yet the market is as good for these abroad as it is for apples. American pears, peaches, plums and cherries are the finest in the world, and the English consumers would be ready buyers if they could be shipped there in proper condition. Nearly all of these fruits are raised in superabundance in this country, and the hardy varieties will stand shipment to Europe in a reliable manner. The only thing that prevents them from being placed there upon sale abroad in excellent condition. Fast steamers enable shippers to place the fruit on the English coast within seven and eight days from the time of picking.

Australia is rapidly coming to the front as a rival agricultural country to this, and it is time that the fruit-growers of the United States made some concerted action to place the great variety of our fruits in the English market. Only the soundest and best, and properly-picked and packed fruits will do for this trade, but these under the direct control of a good fruit association could be made profitable. Fruit-growers need to combine together for such a work far more than they do for political purposes. On the whole, the American farmer and horticulturist is far behind the manufacturer in introducing his goods in foreign markets. He has been so absorbed in the work of raising fine fruit that he has forgotten to exercise his Yankee genius in disposing of it to the best advantage.

Scale Parasites.

At a recent meeting of the State Horticultural Society at San Francisco an interesting paper on ladybirds was read by Alexander Craw, formerly of this city. Alluding to the destruction of the white scale, Prof. Craw said: "The introduction of the Vedalia cardinalis and the Novius Koebelii has done the work so effectively that I have difficulty at times in keeping my colonies of Vedalia alive. Every man with food, I consider the Novius Koebelii the better of the two. We received only two or three of these alive after their long journey from Australia three years ago, but they increased so rapidly that we soon had them by the thousands, and since that time we have sent out many colonies of this than any other species. It searches out the individual scales in the orchard better, and so does better work. The young are covered with cotton and look like the scale."

The next most important ladybird,

he thought, was the Rhabdus ventralis, which preys on the black scale and other Lecanids. Ellwood Cooper, president of the State Board of Horticulture, received ten pairs alive from Australia in May, 1892. Since that time his extensive orchards have been cleaned of black scale and hundreds of thousands of Rhabdus have been sent to other districts. The other varieties Prof. Craw referred to in detail, concluding with the Chrysolasmus monticola, a native of Australia, introduced into the Sandwich Islands by Mr. Koebel. Colonies of Chrysolasmus had been received from Joseph Marsden, Commissioner of Agriculture at Honolulu.

Cultivating Orchards.

(Charles W. Irish in the Citigraph.) There are few trees grown in orchards that send their roots deeply into the earth, even if they are of the kind which grow a tap-root. All of them spread out just under the surface a great network of roots to draw the moisture and food upon which they thrive. Now, it stands to reason if you plow so deep as to cut these roots you will so prune down a tree in its food and water-gathering powers as to stunt its growth, and this undoubtedly is done in all cases where orchards are deeply plowed. Anyone who will look carefully over the old cultivation by the Jewish fathers will find groups about of a like kind by the Mexicans, will see the difference between proper and improper cultivation and irrigation of an orchard.

They restricted their operations to the smallest possible extent of territory. The water was led to the trees by a little ditch which ran immediately along the row of trees and passed around each tree. In no manner did they attempt to spread the water laterally from the trees and thus moisten the ground to any extent and give the roots an opportunity to penetrate the soil, but kept the supply, small as it was, close to the trees.

I have never looked upon an orchard of the Mexicans or the priests but that I found a decidedly stunted growth of trees. Then, how different it is in the orchard of the man who is not too lazy to plow, but has water and thoroughly floods the ground about his trees. You find there a great spreading growth of branches and loads of fruit, the orchard giving, in every way, great promise.

Take again, the orchards in the Eastern States, where the men who own and cultivate them are so stingy of their ground that each year they plow up every available inch of land and plant potatoes or some other farm crop,

AS HED..

Of course you are. Did you ever see new goods, just purchased, sell at such figures as at the Removal Sale now going on at Wineburgh's? Kid Gloves, Corsets, Hosiery, Linings, Underwear—everything goes. Our new store on Broadway must be opened with a new stock. Our contract calls for it. This seems funny, don't it? Meanwhile we were crowded to the doors yesterday.

as close up to the trees as they can possibly drive a team. There you find another stunted growth, not that we what better in appearance than those of the Mexicans or priests, but decidedly behind the growth of trees which were thoroughly and properly cultivated by irrigation, and which were not plowed among at all.

So, then, it is reasonable to expect that when you find the soil properly irrigated the same throughout the extent of your orchard area, you are giving your trees the best possible opportunity to develop their roots, and by giving them all the latitude required for the proper assimilation of the food of the soil, which they must necessarily have, that they may grow and produce fruit.

Profits from Milk Cows. (Iowa Homestead.) The comparative profits derived from selling milk, butter, cream and cheese will, of course, largely depend upon circumstances, chief among which will be the proximity to advantageous markets for several of the products. The investigation of the subject in one section of the country is not, therefore, a certain criterion for another, nevertheless, bulletin 89, from the New York Experiment Station, giving very exhaustive consideration to the subject under the conditions as they exist in that State, will not be without interest. Under New York conditions the average profits derived from selling cheese for one period of lactation were $2.75; from milk, $1.80; from butter, $2.64; from cream, $2.52. The profit of butter over milk is $5.84; the profit of butter over cheese, $10; the profit of milk over cheese, $18.85; the profit of cream over milk is $2.72, and the profit of cream over cheese, $2.72.

It is remarked that the question may suggest itself why the milkman should sell for so much more than milk from which it is produced. The explanation lies mainly in the fact that the consumption of cream is comparatively small, consumers regarding it as a great luxury. Consumers are not generally aware of the fact that it would be more economical to purchase milk and raise their own cream. It is also probably true that competition in the sale of cream will ultimately lower its price to one more nearly corresponding to that of the milk. The values placed upon the several products in Dr. Collier's investigations were 28 cents per quart for milk, 25 cents a pound for butter, 20 cents a quart for cream, and 10 cents a pound for cheese about one month old, which is equivalent to 2-3 cents for green cheese. The food cost of production would of course be high, but the profit regard to the form in which the product was afterwards disposed of.

HOUR OF PRIME.

So it is morning. Would it were Ever the morning and fresh air,
With birds blown from what sunny seas,
And the sun's rays on the water,
I would there were no night at all,
Never long, sometimes even fall.
But morning comes, and the day
And breathing leaves and flowers that stay!
Oh, winter heavy, and winter drear,
And winter night so full of fear!
And the sun's rays on the water,
And life quite sunk in drooping,
The pale light fills the window pane,
And the first bird calls, clear and thin,
The young are coming out of the nest,
Not evening, noon or afternoon,
But morning like a rose in June,
So heavenly fresh with feet that pace
And the sun's rays on the water,
For heaven shines as a morning world
With all its branches dew-embowered;
And night that blots the face of day
Rolled like a withered scroll away.
(Katharine Tynan in The Sketch.)

TRUE WOMAN.

To be a sweetest more desired than spring;
A bodily beauty more acceptable
Than the wild rose-tree's arch that crawls the fell;
To be an absence more envolving
Than the moon's pale light that ravishes the
More than the passionate pulse of Philomel;
To be all this earth one soft bosom's swell,
That the flow of life, how strange the blow
How strange a thing to be what man can know
Hides her soul's purest depth and levelled glow.
Clothed, as all things most unseem-
The wave-bowed pearl—the heart-shaped seal of green
That decks the snowdrop underneath the snow.
(Dante Rossetti.)

Growth of the Aluminum Industry.

(Indianapolis Journal.) The growth of the aluminum industry, and presumably of its use, is shown by the fact that the total output of the substance has increased from 22 pounds in 1885, worth at the factory $250, to 550,000 pounds in 1894, worth $316,250. The cost has been reduced from nearly $10 a pound to less than 6 cents a pound. Hitherto Pittsburgh has had practically a monopoly of the industry, but the establishment of an aluminum plant near Niagara Falls, which will utilize the new electrical power developed there, will materially increase the output.
